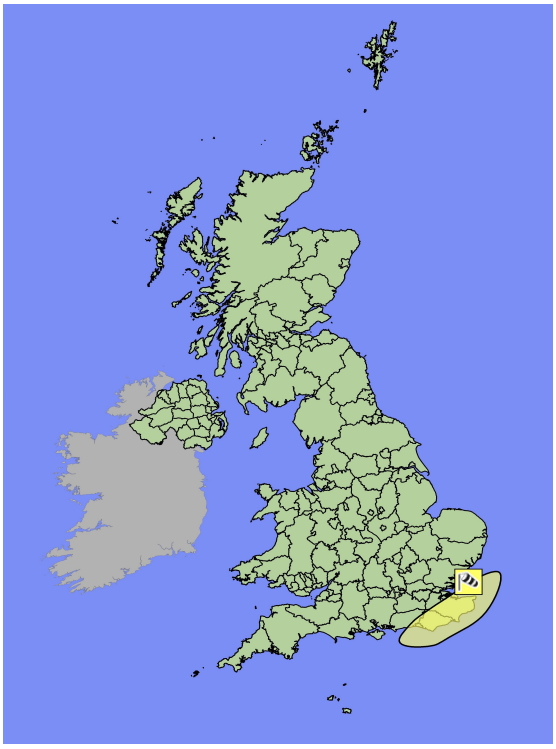
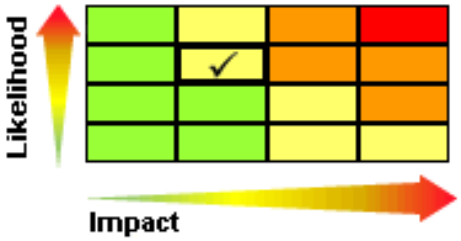
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An active frontal system will cross southeast England today to be followed by a short period of southwesterly gales. Winds should ease steadily through the evening.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 15:00 on Fri, 14th Dec 2012 until 21:00 on Fri, 14th Dec 2012

Winds will increase to gale force through today with southwesterly gusts of 60-65 mph possible over parts of Kent and Sussex, particularly on English Channel coasts. The strongest winds may well coincide with this evening's busy period.

The public should be aware that this could cause disruption to transport.
